

Hi ProRata,

I'm reaching out about the Senior UX/UI Designer role.

I like what you're building. The publishers who've been left in the dust during the AI gold rush are the very people who made AI possible in the first place. Paying them for their content isn't just a moral imperative, it seems like one of the only ways to keep the web healthy and vibrant. In fact, it reminds me of Overture, Bill Gross's other groundbreaking company.

I'd love to be a part of this!

I'm a full stack digital designer who can take ideas from napkin sketch, to working product. I created Color Supply which regularly goes viral on Twitter. Built and sold Faucet Face. I'm also an excellent motion designer.

I use Claude Code for prototyping, which helps me move from concept to working product quickly. I also love working with developers, as I did at Timescale, an open source database company.

You can see more of my work at masongentry.com. Hope we can connect soon to discuss the opportunity.

Best,

Mason